

USING WINDOWS CHARACTER MAP TO ACCESS EXTRA CHARACTERS IN THE PRIVATE USE AREA

From your windows search bar - Type “Character map” and select the Character Map app that pops up to open Character map.

From the dropdown box, select Hello Sunshine.

It will load all the characters into the window.

Now to see only the extra characters:

Check the “Advanced View” checkbox under the character window -> Group By -> Unicode subrange -> Private Use Areas.

Now only the extra characters are displayed.

Click on the alternate letter you want - hit the select button , to place it into the edit box, and then hit the copy button.

The character is now on your clipboard ready to paste into Word/Photoshop/Elements etc. while you are typing with Hello Sunshine.

USING FONTBOOK ( MAC ) TO ACCESS EXTRA CHARACTERS IN THE PRIVATE USE AREA

Open up Font Book, select “Hello Sunshine” from the font list. It will bring up all the characters for the typeface.

Scroll to the alternate character you want, select it to highlight it, and go Edit->Copy ( or hit cmd + c on your keyboard) .

Now the character is ready to be pasted into Word/Photoshop/Elements etc. while you are typing with Hello Sunshine.
